Graphyne is the common name for several suggested mono-layer carbon allotropes, which carry a promise of surpassing graphene in terms of their interesting properties. We will present a study of spectra of invariant Schrödinger operators on some graphyne structures. (Received September 30, 2012)