Flag algebras are recently developed tools with many successful applications when considering maximal or minimal densities of fixed graphs in family of graphs. The concept can be also applied for other settings like hypergraphs, hypercubes or permutations where we show some progress. (Received September 10, 2013)