For many applications arising in science and engineering one wants to solve a polynomial system with the same monomial structure but with different coefficient values. This talk will provide an introduction to parameter homotopies. (Received September 17, 2013)