Math Circle activities are generally low-threshold, high-ceiling. Hence, many problems can be utilized in Science and Engineering Fair competitions. In this talk, potential projects will be presented. Additionally, the structure of a particular Science Fair will be addressed, along with how it incorporates other Math Circle activities. (Received September 08, 2019)