Textbooks are typically a dry list of definitions and results. In this talk we will discuss methods to incorporate humor and pop culture into a book to make it more interesting and enjoyable to read. We will also discuss the pedagogical benefits of doing so. I will include examples from my own book, Real Analysis: A Long-Form Mathematics Textbook. (Received September 17, 2019)