

1023-Q5-266

Aldo R. Maldonado* (aldo.maldonado@gmail.com), 15300 Cadoz Dr., Austin, TX, Austin, TX 78728. Teaching Mathematics online: The Park University experience.

Park University is the second largest provider of online education in the world. In this talk I will provide a brief history of teaching and learning mathematics online at Park University. The expertise gained by Park University will be shared with the attendees as well as the hits and the misses. Emphasis will be placed on the advantages and disadvantages of online mathematical teaching/learning when compared to face-to-face. Perspective from several points of view will be shared, from course developers, instructors, reviewers, administrators and web administrators. (Received August 31, 2006)