Kenneth C Millett* (millett@math.ucsb.edu), Department of Mathematics, UCSB, Santa Barbara, CA 93106. Women in the Mathematical Sciences: The University of California Context.

At leading research colleges and universities, efforts in the hiring and advancement of women in the mathematical sciences are a continuing area of concern at all levels. This presentation will describe the historical context within the University of California and describe current UC wide and campus strategies making contributions to the goal of increasing the diversity of the UC faculty in the mathematical sciences.
