Models of Disease Dispersal for populations with overlapping and non-overlapping discrete populations. Preliminary report.

The spatial spread of epidemics in populations with discrete generations is modeled using integro-difference equations. The existence of traveling epidemic wave solutions in growing and non-growing populations is studied in the context of overlapping and non-overlapping generations of infectious individuals. (Received September 16, 2008)