We prove the Kauffman–Harary Conjecture, posed in 1999: given a reduced, alternating diagram \( P \) of a knot with prime determinant \( p \), every non-trivial Fox \( p \)-coloring of \( P \) will assign different colors to different arcs. (Received September 01, 2009)