
The mathematical heart of deep learning is gradient descent on a loss function $L$. If gradient descent converges, it will converge to a critical point of $L$. Thus the geometry of the locus of critical points is of great interest. We will discuss what is known about the critical points of $L$, including dimension estimates and connectedness results. (Received September 15, 2020)